

R&D TECHNICAL LEAD

JOB DESCRIPTION

Working for Fibertex Personal Care is high paced and challenging, it's full of learning, responsibility and in our opinion it's interesting and fun. It involves working externally with major international producers of hygiene products and internally with skilled colleagues in Malaysia, Denmark, Germany and the U.S.

We are searching for an experienced professional to own the technical relationship with selected customers, passionately lead the related projects/co-developments and provide technical support with a clear understanding of the customers' needs.

As a Technical Lead, you will be reporting to R&D Manager - Business Development

Main Tasks

- Technical relationship owner of selected customers
- Take lead on customer projects from idea development, planning, trials to successful commercialization
- Act as a link between customers and internal stakeholders to ensure mutual understanding of project timelines, expectations of final outcomes etc.
- Manage and sustain trial documentation and ensure proper communication and execution via intra-departmental cooperation
- Analyze trial data and prepare subsequent reports/solutions to customers

- Gain expert knowledge in a selected area within our customers' operational sphere e.g. diaper conversion, hygiene product design, complementary products/processes etc.
- Provide guidance/mentorship to junior team members on joint projects, share best practices with fellow team members
- Customer visits – you are expected to travel up to 20 days/year within Asia

Is that you?

- Preferably a Degree holder in Science/Engineering (you have an added advantage with working experience in a relevant industry)
- 7-8 years working experience with a large degree of customer interaction
- A team player with good analytical skills and attention to detail
- Independent and well organized
- Excellent interpersonal skills
- Extrovert personality and good communicator at all organizational levels
- Excellent spoken and written English

WHY JOIN US

In Fibertex Personal Care we believe that world class products begin with world class professionals - it's in our culture to educate and develop our employees. We value people for their competencies and while we do offer highly competitive packages, working for Fibertex is about more than reward and recognition. You'll be a key part of a highly skilled, friendly and diverse team working in a successful international and expanding organisation.

www.fibertexpersonalcare.com

COMPANY OVERVIEW

Fibertex Personal Care is a market leading manufacturer of nonwovens for different applications in baby diapers, feminine hygiene and adult incontinence products. Playing a critical role in the value chain, we give our customers the ability to create products that provide comfort and contribute to the improvement of people's quality of life all over the world.

We continuously expand our business, not least in Malaysia where we are in the process of starting up our second Nonwoven factory to keep up with customers demand for value added and high quality products.

